END OF THE NEW-ORLEANS REBELLION.

Reorganization of the Vigilance Committee.

MOVEMENTS OF THE CITY AUTHORITIES.

Prisoners Discharged and Arrests Discontinued.

VIEWS OF THE NEW-ORLEANS PRESS.

NEW-ORLEANS, Tuesday, June 8.

Gilbert Moore, the American candidate for Mayor, has been elected by a majority, but many of the principal wards in the Parish Orleans are defeated. The city is quiet. The Vigilants broke up their camp last night and disbanded. They are not disarmed, however, and will keep their organization in readiness to carry out their principles at any moment. The municipal authorities are engaged in effecting an understanding with the Vigilance movement that will have been tested for the arrest of the last one on the charge of Mob violence.

NEW-ORLEANS, Tuesday, June 8—6 P. M.

The city is now quiet. During the day there were some few cases of rowdyism. The Mayor has suspended further arrests, and discharged all the prisoners.

Steamers in the Balize dare.

NEW-ORLEANS, Monday, June 7—10 P. M.

The municipal election here to-day passed off with the utmost quietness. The Irish ticket is elected with only partial exception. Kenny's majority for Mayor is 300.

The Vigilance Committee are still in organization, but their projects are unknown. They are reported to be in the arrest of several persons known as "Thugs," among whom are Lemuel Jessen, to-day elected Recorder; and Hon. S. Hammon, the candidate for the Mayoralty, who withdrew in favor of Gen. Gibson on the formation of the Vigilance Committee. This report requiring such a demand is considered doubtful. The Committee will probably disband. The forces under the authorities are disposed, except the Special Police.

FOR THE COMMITTEE.

From the New-Orleans Bulletin, June 1.

The fact that this movement has sprung up spontaneously all over the city, and with men of the most diametrically political views, shows how profound and pervasive the causes producing it have become. Hence, we see our artisans, our merchants and property-holders, irrespective of party, moved by a single impulse and with scarcely ever before united in their views upon anything, now cordially acting together to effect the inauguration of measures that will redeem the city from the deep degradation into which it has fallen, to restore to its interests at home and its character abroad, to restore to it the supremacy of law, and to place all citizens again upon an equal footing in fact as well as in name.

We say the present movement has the distinct approval and active support of men of the most opposite political principles, men representing different classes, professions, views; many of whom have for years never since been our municipal affairs, who have wished only to enjoy the benefits of peace and good government, but who now, deprived of these, and seeing no hope of securing them without an effort, unite pause forward, and, putting their shoulders to the wheel, are determined to perform no proper efforts with true Orleans to redress, regenerate, and disenthrall.

From the New-Orleans Delta, June 1.

The last removed the reckless and disgraceful faction which is struggling to grasp the municipal government of New-Orleans within death grip, in the endeavor to cover itself with the panoply of an organized and responsible party engaged in a contest with an opposing political organization. But this refuge will not stand fire or resist water. It has no foundation or plausibility to rest on. There has been nothing done, nothing said, nothing attempted, meaning anywise—no threat, no promise on the part of the Independents to prevent exercise, or to give color to a pretense on pretext that the independent movement is not entirely and entirely a non political and non-partisan one, bounded by no limits and aiming at no objects but the welfare and prosperity of the city, its good name abroad, the moral and domestic happiness of its citizens, the guarantee to all of them alike, rich or poor, weak or strong, protection of person and property that is platform enough, programme enough—abundance for hope, and abundance for accomplishment, in the sad, demoralized and dejected time on which we have fallen.

It is known, then, that the leading men of the city, patronizing the shameless abuses of the city government, unsatisfied at the conduct of city officers, and shocked at the contempt that for two or three years have made the name of our city the synonym for infamy, have resolved to call a mass meeting, to consult upon measures, to effect such a change as would insure to every man safety to person and property. In doing this, they have been wholly uninfluenced by party considerations.

NON-COMMITTAL.

From the New-Orleans Picayune, June 1.

The fact manifested in the election about to take place is a sign of the general perception of the danger of good or of evil which depend upon the result of municipal action. Whatever party may succeed, a higher responsibility will be felt by those to whom public trusts are given, than if apathy and indifference now characterized the public mind. In the contest between the two parties, it is neither our intention nor our province, as journalists, to take any part. But we commend to every citizen a careful consideration upon the importance of the occasion, and the responsibility each assumes in exercising that highest right of freemen, the use of the ballot. The respective tickets will be found in our columns, both containing the names of men whose character, antecedents and opinions are known to the whole community.

It is the privilege and duty of each individual to judge for himself what course will now best subserve the interests of New Orleans, and consequently advance his own prosperity.

AGAINST THE COMMITTEE.

From the New-Orleans Crescent, June 1.

This is against any to a meeting of the flimsiest sort, and seen through at the first glance by experienced politicians, even if it is impenetrable to those who are well versed in everything except popular affairs, and who never take an interest in politics except by fits and starts. The names of the "independents" think they are selling right, and we honor them for it, while at the same time Rebellion furnishes all the vitality to the movement necessary, and without it it would not live twenty-eight hours. As it is, it will not live long—not beyond next Monday next.

We say all this from a much recollection in favor of a municipal reform, from the most respectable quarters, when solid and sound reform has been in progress in this city for several years. This city has been better governed than Philadelphia or Washington for the last two years. It has been more peaceable and quiet. The administration of municipal affairs has been better conducted. The lives and property of citizens have been better protected. More arrests, in proportion to population, have been made, and more criminals brought before the judicial tribunals and punished than ever before. The population of the city has increased—its revenues have augmented—its general debt has been largely decreased—its taxes have been decreased—and its prosperity, as a commercial mart, was never on so sure and stable a foundation.

Yet, in face of indisputable facts like these—facts that could be proved in any Court of Justice—a wild cry goes up for "reform," when we are better off than contemporary cities, and have reason for congratulation instead of dissatisfaction. What is the cause of all this—the real, secret cause, we mean? We have indicated it above. The old scoundrels want office and plunder once more, and they are confident that if the Independents succeed a disruption will ensue, which will give them, in a brief period, if not immediately, with little or no trouble, the complete control of the city. That is the "reform" they mean—all the "reform"—and if they can use the Independents as instruments to further their own selfish purposes, they will assuredly do so.

THE ASSASSINATION OF ABE PHILLIPS, ONE OF THE "THUGS."

From the New-Orleans Delta, May 29.

A portion of the community—at least that small portion of it composed of the Know-Nothings proper—was thrown into a great state of excitement last night, on learning that that well-known individual, ABE PHILLIPS, had been assassinated. He was killed at the corner of Canal and Bazia streets, about 10½ o'clock. Who were the parties who killed him remains a mystery up to the time we write, (1 o'clock A. M.) From all the information we could gather, his assassination was premeditated.

All that is known about the matter, and that is vague in that he was seen crossing Canal-street accompanied by two men, shots were heard, a man was seen running across the street, pursued by others; shots were again heard, and three men were afterwards seen running down Canal street. When the people in the neighborhood attracted to the spot arrived, they found PHILLIPS expiring. He had been shot twice, and afterwards stabbed.

ABE PHILLIPS, since the inauguration of Know-Nothingism into this city, has occupied a prominent position—no matter, to be just, say an enviable one, in the community—and common rumor, whether correct or otherwise, pointed him as one of the principal leaders of the Thugs.

It was for some time in the secret politics of Mayor LOCKETT, and subsequently, we believe, discharged from office. He afterwards associated himself with the Democracy, and was an active and inveterate foe of the Know Nothings. He was, and deservedly, defeated in the last election for Register, we presume, as he had been active in the Democratic ranks.

Yesterday, since the assassination became known, the excitement was intense, and the streets were filled with people discussing the matter. Many rumors were afloat, and the most contradictory reports were circulated. Some said that the assassination was the result of a duel, others that it was the work of the Vigilance Committee, and others that it was the result of a private quarrel. The latter report is the most probable, and the one which is generally credited.

Gen. Webb again Defeated—The Troubles with the Sioux Indians—Correspondence between Secretary Cass and the Peruvian Ministry, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 8.

Gen. WEBB has suffered another defeat in the matter of the appropriation to GALES & SEATON for publishing the American State papers. WEBB is left out, and they are to divide with WENDELL—the latter doing the work.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs came to no conclusion this morning, and will meet again to-morrow.

After the passage between Senators BENJAMIN and DAVIS to-day in debate, the former immediately sent a challenge to DAVIS, through JOHNSON, of Arkansas, which was accepted. Friends are at work trying to arrange matters. G.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 8.

An exciting passage of arms took place in the Senate to-day, between Mr. DAVIS, of Mississippi, and Mr. BENJAMIN, of Louisiana.

Mr. BENJAMIN was speaking on the Army bill, when Mr. DAVIS said, "I will correct the Senator, as that seems to be the point of his argument. The Secretary of War does ask money for breech loading arms, costing from thirty to forty thousand dollars, and part of this one hundred thousand dollars is to go in this way, according to his application."

Mr. BENJAMIN replied "I do not understand that the Secretary has asked for any part of this one hundred thousand to purchase breech-loading fire arms. If he has, I am very much mistaken."

Mr. DAVIS—Oh, I will state the very simple fact that he asks money to buy breech loading arms. Whether the $100,000 is to be paid out of the Treasury, I do not know.

To this Mr. BENJAMIN replied: "It is very easy for the Senator to give a sneering reply as to what was certainly a very respectful inquiry."

Mr. DAVIS—I consider it as an attempt to misrepresent a very plain remark.

Mr. BENJAMIN—The Senator is mistaken, and has no right to state any such thing. His manner is no agreeable at all.

Mr. DAVIS—"If the Senator happens to find it disagreeable, I hope he will keep it to himself."

Mr. BENJAMIN—"It was directed to me, and I will not keep it to myself. I will reply to it instanter."

Mr. DAVIS—You have got it, Sir.

Mr. BENJAMIN—That is enough, Sir. I shall not again be diverted from my public duties.

It is everywhere rumored and believed true that Mr. BENJAMIN has sent Mr. DAVIS a challenge. The affair is serious, and mutual friends ever since the colloquy have been engaged in the endeavor to effect an honorable adjustment of the difficulty.

The Secretary of the Interior has asked Congress for an appropriation of $100,000 to enable him to take measures to preserve the peace in the Northern Superintendency, now threatened by invasion by large bodies of hostile Yanctonaise-Sioux. It is within the knowledge of the Department that great dissatisfaction has existed for some years, among the turbulent bands of Sioux or Dacotah Indians, whose range is along the Missouri River, and is now about to manifest itself in the inauguration of hostilities on a scale of alarming magnitude. The regular troops having been withdrawn, the frontier settlements are left entirely unprotected, and great alarm exists among the settlers, who have appealed to the Department for protection. The Secretary, therefore, earnestly appeals to Congress to act promptly in this emergency. The Secretary transmits a letter from Agent VAUGHAN, in which it is stated that the Sioux are in a belligerent and refractory condition, particularly the Menecingrees and Uncapas bands. During the past year, they have been robbing indiscriminately every white man passing through their country, and in many cases threatening their lives. The withdrawal of the troops from Fort Pierre has caused the Indians to believe that the Government is afraid of them, and from their conduct and threats, Mr. VAUGHAN is satisfied that no Agent's life is safe in distributing annuities, without a suitable force to protect him.

The Secretary asks for $100,000 to redeem the promise made by Gen. HARNEY to the Nine Bands of the Sioux in 1856. These bands are among the wildest and most dangerous within our limits. Good faith and sound policy demand the fulfillment of these stipulations, and it is said that unless measures are promptly taken serious disturbances will be likely to result.

The President to-day communicated to the Senate the correspondence between DE OSMA, the Peruvian Minister, and Secretary CASS, relative to the forcible and violent seizure of the American vessels Georgiana and Lizzie Thompson, while engaged in taking in guano, on the charge of being engaged in contraband trade, and the imprisonment of the persons found on board. Our Government has claimed full satisfaction, both for this and the boarding and detention of the Dorcas C. Yeaton, by a Peruvian armed steamer. DE OSMA enters into a long argument in defence of Peru, and expresses the hope that nothing will occur to interrupt friendly relations. Secretary CASS, in reply, reminds DE OSMA that the case presented is one for our very gravest consideration, and says that the cutting out of these vessels resembles a piratical enterprise rather than an exercise of legitimate power. He incloses an opinion of Attorney-General BLACK, who maintains that the whole proceeding of the Peruvian Government is contrary to the law of nations, and repugnant to the principles of mutual justice, and transmits a copy of his recent letter to Lord NAPIER, underscoring the strongest sentences, for DE OSMA's information, concerning the position of the United States, relative to the search or seizure of American vessels by those of foreign Powers.

Whatever may have been the President's inclination in reference to the extension of the session of Congress, the propriety of Mr. BIGLER's movement to that end, in view of the extreme pressure of public business, is conceded on all sides.

J. P. STAPPENBR, AMOS KENDALL and other interested partisans of the Morse Telegraph Patentees, have been very conspicuous amongst the Lobby for some months past, and through the good nature of Senator BIGLER have been allowed to flood both houses of Congress with a mass of unsupported charges against the Atlantic Telegraph Co., and yesterday the wires of the Magnetic and New-England Union Companies were thrown open to these Lobby gentlemen to enable them to circulate free, special dispatches to the Baltimore Sun, Philadelphia Ledger, New-York Evening Post, and other journals in their interest, statements to the effect that the Judiciary Committee had framed a bill repealing the Telegraph act of 1857, on the ground that the Atlantic Company had handed over their line to the British Government. It is scarcely necessary to say that the special dispatches were entirely destitute of truth. No action whatever has been taken by the Judiciary Committee of the House, nor has the Senate Committee, to whom STAPPENBR and KENDALL's memorials have been referred, expressed any opinion, nor taken any action adverse to the interests of the Company engaged in the public enterprise of connecting Europe and America by telegraph. It is understood that [illegible] the earnest solicitations of Asso [illegible] to introduce a bill in the Senate to-day to repeal the telegraph act of last year. He did not do so in his individual capacity, and either the action of the Committee who have the various telegraph memorials under consideration. The movement of Mr. BIGLER is regarded here as an attempt on the part of SHAFFNER, KENDALL & Co., to mystify the public by putting forward an individual Senatorial movement as the deliberate action of Congress and the Government.

Mr. BARNARD's majority for Mayor is 571. The Democrats and Anti-Know Nothings are also successful in all the Wards but one, electing the Aldermen, Councilmen and Assessors thereto.

Mr. CASEY JONES, literary legatee of Mr. KNOX, is engaged in writing the latter's biography.

XXXVth CONGRESS.....First Session.

SENATE.....WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 8.

On motion of Mr. BIGLER, the Senate voted to extend the session to Monday the 14th instant, by ayes 43, nays 16.

The credentials were presented for the next Senatorial term of six years, by Senators HUNTER, CASS and BROWN.

The Vice-President laid before the Senate a communication from the Peruvian Government, respecting the guano on the Peruvian islands, which was laid on the table.

Mr. BIGLER, of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill repealing the Atlantic Telegraphic act of March, 1857.

The Army Appropriation bill was discussed, and $25,000 voted for the alteration of the old arms into breech-loading ones, of which sum $5,000 is to test the adaptability of WARD's magazine gun to the MAYNARD's principle.

The appropriation for the pay of the Florida volunteers of 1837, $365,000, provoked debate, as did the Military Committee's amendment to devote $50,000 for the El Paso Wagon Route, and Mr. DOUGLAS' amendment, from the Committee on Territories, to appropriate $100,000 for its extension to Albuquerque; all of which, however, were passed.

Mr. DAVIS, of Mississippi, from the Committee on Military Affairs, submitted an amendment, making an appropriation of $1,280,000 for the continuation of the fortifications on the Penobscot, at Portland, Me., on Lake Champlain, at Fort Ridgely, on Staten Island, in Delaware Bay, at Baltimore, Richmond, Charleston, various places in Florida, Mobile, on the Mississippi River, and at San Francisco, which was carried.

Mr. DAVIS' amendment, that the Postmaster-General sell the army to the contractors for the overland mails, was lost.

Mr. WILSON's amendment repealing the existing laws which authorize the Secretary of War to sell the unused military reservations, was carried.

Mr. TOUCEY, of Illinois, made a strong but unavailing opposition to the appropriation of $393,000 for the Florida volunteers of the past year.

Various other amendments were offered and rejected, and the bill finally passed, 36 against 12. The total sum appropriated is close on to seventeen millions.

The bill making appropriations for the Ocean Mail service was taken up, but without action thereupon, the Senate, at 9 o'clock, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 8.

The House went into Committee on the Senate amendments to the miscellaneous appropriation bill.

Debate ensued on the Senate amendment in regard to the arrangement with Messrs. GALES & SEATON for printing the American State papers.

Mr. LETCHER, of Virginia, understood from Mr. SEATON that the work would make fifty volumes, and that printing two thousand copies of it would cost $848,000. He was not certain that this would be the paper. He was against the proposition at this time.

Mr. PARKE, of Indiana, and Mr. STEPHENS, of Georgia, showed the importance of the work in a national point of view.

Mr. CLEMENS, of Virginia, opposed the amendment as contrary to the Democratic doctrine of retrenchment and reform. The Republicans had already raised the issue of extravagance against the Administration.

Mr. PHILLIPS, of Pennsylvania, called it parsimony to withhold money from a work of this kind and informed Mr. CLEMENS that he (PHILLIPS) was not afraid to go before his constituents with a vote in its favor.

Mr. MASON, of Kentucky, regarded this as a mere fat job. If it was necessary to make douceurs to meritorious editors, let Congress do it above board, and not cover it up in printed paper.

Mr. STEPHENS did not understand this to be a job He did not know where Mr. MASON got his information.

Mr. MASON replied he heard it about town.

Mr. STEPHENS referred to the fact that Messrs. GALES and SEATON printed the first series and understood the work, and considered this as an argument why they should be preferred to continue its publication.

Mr. SMITH, of Virginia, wanted the work given out to the lowest bidder. Let every one have a chance. This project was got up by outside parties for their own advantage.

Mr. TAYLOR, of New-York, wanted this fat job postponed until the printing bureau was established.

Mr. CLEMENS alluded to the issue of Treasury notes and the proposition for a loan, and in view of the condition of the Treasury, asked Mr. PHILLIPS how he could go before his constituents and sustain himself for voting for a proposition like that pending.

Mr. PHILLIPS merely wished to say that the Pennsylvania Democracy were quite equal to the Virginia Democracy, and that they adhered more to practice than profession.

Mr. CLEMENS said no authority could be found in the resolutions of 1798 [laughter] for converting the House into a great book-making machine.

Mr. PHILLIPS thought a great deal of fuss had been made about a very little matter. He would gladly vote for printing such a useful documentary history, and also to put money into the Treasury.

Mr. CLEMENS asked whether he would do that by an alteration of the tariff.

Mr. PHILLIPS replied that he was not afraid to avow any sentiment he entertained. He would seek an opportunity to give his views on retrenchment and reform, and not indulge in miserable parsimony in regard to publishing the records of the country.

Mr. READER, of Texas, wished to know if this was not a private job, why it was not given out by contract.

The Senate amendment was modified so as to restrict the appropriation to $34,000 and then adopted by 75 against 59.

Mr. SMITH, of Virginia, protested against this special legislation for Messrs. GALES & SEATON, which would put a handsome per centage in their pockets, while other parties would do the work.

The Committee then rose, and the House voted on the various Senate amendments, rejecting the $330,000 appropriation for the continuation of the New-Orleans Custom-House; also, that of $300,000 for the Charleston, South Carolina, Custom-House.

Mr. HASKIN, of New-York, from the Willett's Point Investigating Committee, offered a resolution in behalf of the Committee, stating that in view of the fact that the several members of the Committee were unable to agree upon a majority report, they be authorized to present to the House their respective statements on the subject

This was agreed to, and the statements, together with testimony, were ordered to be printed.

The resolution attached to Mr. HASKIN's report says that the Secretary of War was not legally authorized to make the purchase; that he acted improperly, injudiciously, and in an improvident manner, and that the price paid was exorbitant and unjust.

Messrs. HOPKINS and FLORENCE say that the evidence does not in any degree warrant the slightest imputation upon the official or personal integrity of the Secretary of War, nor warrant the imputation that AUGUSTUS SCHELL, Collector of the Port of New-York, has been guilty of any official or moral delinquency.

Mr. WOOD's statement concludes with a resolution that nothing has been elicited to show that in the slightest degree the Secretary of War or Mr. SCHELL acted corruptly, but that there are circumstances connected with the manner of the transaction, which indicate much carelessness on the part of the Government, and the want of due forethought and consideration, which, if allowed to pass without reprehension, might be adduced as a dangerous precedent in the future management of affairs of this kind.

The report of Mr. HALL, of Massachusetts, was not handed up.

Mr. HASKIN wanted to postpone the consideration of the subject until Thursday noon, but there was a general understanding on either side that it could be called up at pleasure. Adjourned.

Treaty with Dacotah Indians—Consequences of its Defeat—Tehuantepec Post-Office Contract—Collins, Vanderbilt, and Steam Mail Contracts—Arizona—Patents.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 8, 1858.

On Friday last the Senate considered the treaty recently made with the Indians of the Dacotah district for the cession of their lands along the Missouri River, and it was defeated for want of a two-thirds vote, and from the absence of Senators. The vote was Ayes 28, Noes 18. Mr. BIGLER made a long speech against the treaty, which, [illegible] to get interested in the subject was prepared to make [illegible]. The quantity of land proposed to be received by this arrangement is 10,000,000 acres, for which the United States stipulate to pay 14 cents per acre—the payments running through a period of fifty years. A motion to reconsider was immediately entered, which will doubtless prevail, provided the session be extended, and the treaty in that case will be confirmed. It was entered on Friday by a union of the Republicans with the extreme men of the South like DAVIS and CLAY.

The consequences of the permanent defeat of this treaty are more serious than is commonly supposed. The organization of Dacotah Territory depends upon the extinction of the Indian title to the lands comprised within its intended boundaries, and the erection of Arkansas into a Territory is contingent upon the fate of the Northern project.

Mr. DOUGLAS, Chairman of the Committee, will at once report the bill as directed, when the treaty shall be passed. His action in reference to the important matter of a general enabling act, or amendment to the bill, will be governed by the course of the Nebraska Convention, which meets at Springfield, Illinois, to-day. If it deal blindly and tenderly with him, and indicate a purpose of affiliating with him, so far as to nominate and support legislative candidates favorable to his return to the Senate, he will probably forbear to engage his platform for the avoidance of the recurrence of existing disputes; but, if the course of his opponents denote war upon his wing of the party, he will begin at once to court the Republicans, and will omit the section likely to produce a revival of the discussion on sectional issues.

Messrs. BENJAMIN and LA SERE are still laboring with great diligence to secure to their division of the Tehuantepec Company, a valuable contract, for the conveyance of the California mails over the route crossing their Isthmus. Their success continues to be uncertain. On the 24th of May the Postmaster General transmitted to Mr. ENGLISH, of the Post-Office Committee of the House, a long letter, stating, among other things, that he was about to make a contract with responsible parties, claiming the control of the Tehuantepec, for a tri-monthly mail to and from California, at $265,000 per annum. He claims the authority to do this under the act of 1851, and will construe the new action of Congress, after this notice, into a positive permission to act in the premises, according to his best judgment. He proposes to commence the service under this arrangement on the 1st October, 1858, and to continue it one year.

Since the date of that letter, the memorial of Col. SAXE has deranged the plans of the Department, and prevented the signing of the contract, which had been drawn up and prepared for the last formalities required to give it validity. Among those who have interested themselves in behalf of the claims of the LA SERE and Benjamin party are Messrs. SLIDELL and TOUCEY.

Mr. COLLINS is in a fair way to procure the allowance of $147,000 arrears of compensation, which was withheld on account of the slow trips of the Evening Star, which carried no mails. The Department refused to pay the stipulated $19,000 per voyage, because it was necessary to put the mails on board the Cunard ships, and to pay them the amount of the postages for [illegible]. The Post-Office Committee of the Senate have been willing to allow Mr. COLLINS to vary the [illegible] to Southampton. Mr. COLLINS [illegible] opposed by Commodore VANDERBILT [illegible] on Saturday, fully satisfied that the Department was prepared to sustain him against his old rival. But the Committee having considered the whole subject, inserted a clause that if the Collins ships failed to perform the service, the Postmaster-General should have only the postages with which to procure substitutes—which cuts off all Mr. VANDERBILT's views.

Mr. RICHARDSON, Editor of the Cincinnati Record, has shipped a press and San Francisco for Arizona, where he will set it up for the emission of Democratic opinions. This fact shows true American progress in that far-off region.

The Patent war is renewed with immense rigor and powerful resources towards the close of the session. The advocates of the renewal of certain patents, in which it appears to be shown that the inventors have not been sufficiently compensated are Hon. Edmund Burke, of New-Hampshire; Ex-Senator JAMES; Mr. JENKS, of Rhode Island; Mr. DICKERSON, of New-Jersey; Mr. JAMES T. BRADY, of New-York; Mr. HAYWARD, Mr. GOODYEAR, Mr. CHAFFEE, and many other gentlemen of distinction. They will make the last trial on Friday or Saturday next. A.

LOSS OF LIFE BY THE CAPSIZING OF A PLEASURE BOAT—MARINE DISASTER.

BOSTON, Tuesday, June 8.

During a severe thunder-shower this noon, the new schooner Prairie Flower, with thirty-five passengers on board, was capsized in our harbor. Two men were drowned, and a boy is missing, but the latter was probably picked up, as he was near one of a number of rescuing vessels, who saved the remainder and brought them to the city. The schooner belonged to Salem, and the passengers were taking a pleasure trip to Boston.

The bark J. W. Andrews, at Wiscasset, Me., from New-York, reports that she was in collision, off Seguin, the 4th inst., with the schooner Zerrilda, of Brewer, Me., and sunk, the latter barely saving her crew.

New-Hampshire Legislature—The Senatorship.

CONCORD, N. H., Tuesday, June 8.

The Republican Senators in caucus, last night, resolved to adhere to the rule of rotation in office, which is adverse to the reelection of the Hon. JOHN P. HALE. The indications are favorable to the election of the Hon. T. M. EDWARDS, of Keene, to the Senatorship.

CONCORD, 11 o'clock P. M.

The Democratic caucus to-night nominated the Hon. JOHN S. WELLS for United States Senator.

The Statesman of this evening has a strong article against the reelection of JOHN P. HALE.

Notice was given in the House to-day of a bill to extend the telegraph facilities in New-Hampshire. A petition for the purpose is signed by F. O. J. SMITH.

The House Republican caucus was fully attended this evening. One hundred and ninety-four ballots were cast on the nomination for United States Senator—of which JOHN P. HALE received one hundred and twenty-seven; T. M. EDWARDS thirty, and AMOS TUCK twenty-six.

Difficulty Between the Central and Erie Railroads Respecting the Crossing at Batavia.

BUFFALO, Monday, June 8.

The difficulty between the Buffalo division of the Erie Railroad, and the New-York Central Railroad at Batavia, is assuming a threatening character. The former, to make a connection with another road, is obliged to cross the track of the latter in Batavia. This the Central Railroad Company appear determined to prevent, and they have placed a train of freight cars directly on the crossing, and chained to the track four heavy locomotives. All is in charge of a large gang of men, who have thus far succeeded in effecting the blockade. The Erie Road has applied to the Sheriff for protection, and to-morrow a crossing will be made by force, if necessary. The Central Company have counseled their men not to resist, if force is used, but to prevent by all other means the crossing of their track. The Central Company have a large force of Irishmen, eight miles from the scene of trouble, in readiness to proceed at a moment's warning. Serious trouble is anticipated.

IMPORTANT FROM UTAH.

Governor Cumming Still at Salt Lake City.

Capt. Marcy's Train Not Cut Off.

The Mormons Peaceably Inclined.

ST. LOUIS, Tuesday, June 8.

The Republican's Leavenworth correspondent learns from a man who left Camp Scott on the 9th of May, that the troops would be out of beef by the sixteenth, but that their other rations would last till the first of June.

No dispatches had been received in the Camp from Governor CUMMING, and nothing had been heard from Captain MARCY. The latter was expected to reach the Camp about the first of June.

Colonel HOFFMAN's command was snow-bound at Labonte Creek, 50 miles beyond Fort Laramie.

The most advanced trains of Messrs. RUSSELL, MAJORS and WADDELL were met near the South Platte. The trains were getting along finely until they reached the Big Blue, where heavy rains had caused serious obstructions.

A Mormon named WILLIAMS, living near Leavenworth, had received a letter dated Salt Lake City, May 8, which represents everything quiet in the valley. Gov. CUMMING was in the city at that date, and the people had abandoned all idea of fighting, and gone to work on their farms.

The Independence correspondent of the Republican, writing June 4, says that the Salt Lake mail of April 18, had arrived, bringing news that an express had reached Camp Scott from Governor CUMMING, stating that he had been well received at Salt Lake City, that BRIGHAM YOUNG was willing to transfer all authority, and had enjoined his followers to recognize CUMMING as their future Governor, and aid him in the discharge of his duties.

The Utah News.

FOGGY ACCOUNTS FROM SALT LAKE—ESTRANGEMENT BETWEEN GOVERNOR CUMMING AND GENERAL JOHNSTON.

It seems to be quite impossible to get at the truth of the reports which reach us from Utah. There is a sad lack of reliable information, contradictory statements following closely one upon another. The latest news received reports a serious estrangement between the civil and military departments of the expedition. The St. Louis Democrat says:

"Yesterday we met with a gentleman who left Fort Leavenworth on Wednesday, the 2d, and who was a listener to all the discussions, and read all the letters received from Camp Scott up to the 6th of May. He discredits the news of Governor CUMMING having been driven out of Great Salt Lake City. The letters from Camp Scott, of the latest date, make no mention of any such event. Nothing, indeed, was known there of what was going on in Great Salt Lake City, there being, unfortunately, no official intercourse between Governor CUMMING and General JOHNSTON. We do not know how this estrangement has been brought about, but that it exists is quite certain. The letters further state that Gen. JOHNSTON had made his orders for the march to Salt Lake about the 10th May, but as the Peace Commissioners would arrive about that time, it is possible that some delay followed their appearance there. It is said, also, that the troops were living on mule meat, but that information had been received that a supply of beef cattle from Oregon was within four days' travel from the encampment of Gen. JOHNSTON. Col. HOFFMAN, with supplies from Fort Laramie, it is now said, was within seven to nine days' march of Camp Scott.

It is certain, that dispatches from Gov. CUMMING to the Secretary of State have gone forward to Washington. These dispatches were not put in the mail from Camp Scott. They were received there subsequent to the 6th of May, with instructions to put them through with all speed, and it was the two MORMONS who were the bearers of these dispatches that threatened the overthrow that Gov. CUMMING had been driven out of Salt Lake City. This looks improbable, and we incline to think that the dispatches from Gov. CUMMING—still in Great Salt Lake City—are the result of consultations between Gov. C. and BRIGHAM YOUNG. We shall soon see how this is, and in the mean while all the movements from our frontier will go on as if nothing had happened, looking to a settlement of this question.

THE MORMONS IN THE WEST.

Matters in Iowa—Affairs in Utah—Mormon Views of Approaching Events.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Tuesday, May 25, 1858.

I arrived here a week ago, having, since my last writing, passed up the "Big Muddy" eight hundred miles through Missouri, and dividing Missouri and Kansas, and Iowa and Nebraska; and as she winds her devious course along, passes through some of the most fertile and beautiful portions of the globe. A trip up the Missouri is usually an unpleasant one; but there are now good arrangements for comfort and speed far exceeding anything heretofore enjoyed, bringing passengers through from St. Louis to this place in five or six days, viz.: by Pacific Railroad to Jefferson City, thence by Union Packet line to St. Josephs, thence by steam-packet Waiscos to this city Fare is unexceptionable, and expenses through, about $20. Freight 75 cents per 100 pounds.

Council Bluffs is a city six years old, and has a population of some 4,000 souls. It is located opposite Omaha, the capital of Nebraska, commands a heavy trade, and contains some very fine blocks of buildings, and is some three miles from the Missouri River. The place was originally settled by the Mormons, in 1846, by whom the town was commenced, and many farms opened in the region. They established a Press here and called the place Kanesville, but the greater portion of that people emigrated to Utah in 1850. The place now contains the land office, several churches, some fine hotels, and one of the finest and most spacious halls in the State. "Jane's Block" is a splendid edifice, and would be a credit to any city. Council Bluffs has for many years been the principal outstarting point for California, Oregon, and Utah, and still has a considerable trade in that direction. A mass Railroad Convention has recently been held in this place for the purpose of organizing a company to build a road southward to the State line, to connect the road about being built from St. Josephs to the north line of the State.

The Company was fully organized, and nearly enough stock subscribed to build the road. Much enthusiasm characterized the proceedings, and an immediate railroad connection with St. Joseph's is among the fixed facts of the times.

Times are rather dull here, and money scarce, yet much land is being entered each day, and a very large amount of land, more than usual, is out into crops this season, and generally looking well. Emigration is steadily pouring into the country, a large majority of which are agriculturists, and seek farms in the rural regions, or strike out a new path into the wild rolling prairies, where they will soon be surrounded with comforts and happiness.

There is some little excitement in regard to the Utah war, in this section. This being the old quarters of Mormondom, the people are generally better acquainted with them than are those living more remote from this great route of travel, and in fact there are very many families of Mormons living throughout this section of country, most of whom are intelligent, industrious and much respected. One gentlemanly-appearing man was pointed out to me on the street, this morning, an official in the church, who controls most of the building in this city, and is said to be the best and most reliable mechanic in the place. It is said he has an interesting family, and a daughter that performs on the piano admirably. There appears to be an intense anxiety on the part of the Mormons here generally to join the Saints in Utah, and await them in the contest with their oppressors, and hundreds have sold out their possessions here, and wait with anxiety for the moment when they may start across the plains. Every boat is bringing to it on the frontiers here numbers who also await for "counsel" to start. Col. HAYNES, with a company of fifty Danish Mormons—smart-looking fellows—arrived here a day or two since, and intend to cross to Utah somehow, and will start out immediately. H. G. RICHARDS has just arrived from St. Louis, where he has been visiting as agent for the church. He intends to start out with a small company on the north side of the NEWS OF THE DAY.

We have no doubt that ingenious sophistry will make it quite clear to that small circle of politicians who are anxious to believe it, that there was nothing wrong about the Willett's Point purchase. It is very easy to say that nothing can be traced directly to any body;—that the notes discounted for Secretary Flood are not proved to have grown out of this purchase,—that Collector Bowen was not seen by any body to take any portion of the plunder realized by the operation,—and that intrigue seem to have been done very decently and correctly from beginning to end. It is the easiest thing in the world to make plausible cases out of what has not been proved. A Congressional Committee, it will be remembered, with John Quincy Adams at its head, once reported that the famous loan of $42,000 by the Bank of the United States to an Editor who had previously opposed, but afterwards supported that concealment institution, was a "fair, business transaction." But in all these cases the public form their own judgments,—not upon the mere supposed probabilities of the case. They did so in the Whitney Point affair, and they will do so in the Willett's Point affair.

We see it freely stated that the Republican members of the Willett's Point Committee of Investigation nequit Secretary Flood and Collector Bowen, of all censure in regard to that transaction. It has been remarked, also, that during the investigation they voted unanimously for restoring the ungiven as much as possible, and for abolishing the Government's Secret Service. The members who are anxious to believe that there was nothing wrong about the Willett's Point purchase, and for abolishing the Government's Secret Service,—or they must have been hired to favor and support it.

We have no doubt that ingenious sophistry will make it quite clear to that small circle of politicians who are anxious to believe it, that there was nothing wrong about the Willett's Point purchase. It is very easy to say that nothing can be traced directly to any body;—that the notes discounted for Secretary Flood are not proved to have grown out of this purchase,—that Collector Bowen was not seen by any body to take any portion of the plunder realized by the operation,—and that intrigue seem to have been done very decently and correctly from beginning to end. But in all these cases the public form their own judgments,—not upon the mere supposed probabilities of the case. They did so in the Whitney Point affair, and they will do so in the Willett's Point affair.

What we want is as close an approximation as earthly affairs will allow, to simplicity in procedure and certainty in punishment. We want every criminal to feel assured that, if the evidence be strong against him, he will be found guilty, and, if found guilty, that he will suffer the penalty of his crime. Lawyers like to have cases complex, so that they may have a better opportunity for their ingenuity in unravelling them. Judges like to have cases complex, so that they may have a better opportunity for their learning in explaining them. Juries like to have cases complex, so that they may have a better opportunity for their sagacity in comprehending them. But the community at large, and the criminal himself, like to have cases simple, so that there may be no doubt about the guilt of the one, and no uncertainty about the punishment of the other.

Not only is the general drift of the Tribune's observations commendable, but in a special manner also the candor with which it places its own party in the same category with all the others. To be sure it says that Chicago is the only city under Republican rule, so that the experiment, so far as that party is concerned, has not turned out of office. This does not look as if the entire City Government had been overturned by the Vigilance demonstration. Indeed the Committee seems ready to have done nothing towards taking possession of the City Government, or exercising the power which is said to be in their hands. They have tried nobody, hung nobody, nor even lifted a finger towards fulfilling the promises of their proclamation and ridding the city of the scoundrels with which it was said to be infested. In this respect, the movement wears a very different aspect from that of the Vigilance Committee of San Francisco.

But the crowning fizzle of the whole affair was at the election on Monday. Special pains had been taken to proclaim their purpose to secure a fair and full vote. Dreadful stories were told of the atrocities perpetrated at the polls in past years, and the most solemn guarantees were given that they should not be repeated. If the Committee kept its ground, and, as was alleged, of the entire city police, the event does not bear out the proclamation was issued from it.

The Mayor seems to have been either asleep, or in league with the Vigilance leaders, or too timid of his place,—and so accordingly went over to the enemy. But the moment he went to the City Hall and attempted to explain his course to the City Council, he was impeached and turned out of office. This does not look as if the entire City Government had been overturned by the Vigilance demonstration. Indeed the Committee seems ready to have done nothing towards taking possession of the City Government, or exercising the power which is said to be in their hands. They have tried nobody, hung nobody, nor even lifted a finger towards fulfilling the promises of their proclamation and ridding the city of the scoundrels with which it was said to be infested. In this respect, the movement wears a very different aspect from that of the Vigilance Committee of San Francisco.

But while we agree that politics should be banished from our municipal elections, it should be recollected that much more must be done before honesty will very largely prevail. There is in every populous city a large class who have no political attachments aside from pecuniary interest, and who come to the polls under the sway of any political party. Either the citizens who usually pay the taxes must come together and resolve to unite without distinction of party in the support of honest, capable men for responsible places in the municipal-ity, or they must submit to be ruled by peculators and sharpers leagued with mercenaries and ruffians. There is just this choice open to them. True, we might urge that they ought to be ruled before extra exercise have yet been used by the Republicans as a party; and that they ought to be ruled before party municipal government is declared pro-nounced a failure; but it is wiser to rest on the abundant experience afforded by the failures of all other parties.

We are surprised to find the Courier des Etats Unis joining in the excessive outcry against a church organization for exploiting a question which happened to be in power. Its impeachment of Jackson's motives in the Deposite discussion which followed his last veto as to what Judge of what Court had a right to hence him to the death be inclined.

Dirty Government.

The New-York "Times" "improves" the New-Orleans disturbances by some reflections of its own upon the utter inutility of party politics in city elections. Its remarks are sensible and just, as will be seen from the following paragraph, which we quote:

"One thing has been settled by the experience of the last twenty years, and that is the moral impotency of good municipal rule under the sway of any political party. Either the citizens who usually pay the taxes must come together and resolve to unite without distinction of party in the support of honest, capable men for responsible places in the municipal-ity, or they must submit to be ruled by peculators and sharpers leagued with mercenaries and ruffians. Our Boundaries—Changes of their Being Published.

In the various enumerations we have made of the changes which every ought in this State have been brought to pass,—that a municipal government was established for the Metropolis, for whom the Board appointed to the extent of $434, being the resignation for service in the Street Commissioner's Office, and which the Comptroller and Commissioners of Emigration were to pay;

That the Common Council was later erected, and left not at long, but they had a week's notice;

That the Board of Aldermen last evening, by a majority of 24 to 12, passed the Senate's amendment, to the Assembly's amendment, to the Senate's amendment, by a vote of 24 to 12, by which means the Senate's amendments adopted. It was that the Senate's amendments adopted. It was that the Senate's amendments adopted. It was that
